3.3.3 – Does your university as a body share sports facilities with the local community, for instance with local schools or with the general public?

Dnyaan Prasad Global University (DPGU), Pune, recognises the importance of sports, physical fitness and recreational activities in promoting holistic student development and community engagement. Through its six Schools – School of Pharmacy and Research (SPR), School of Hospitality and Tourism (SHT), School of Technology and Research (STR), School of Liberal Arts (SLA), School of Business and Strategy (SBS), and School of Management and Research (SMR) – the University encourages participation in sports and physical activities while promoting collaboration with educational institutions and local community organisations. One such initiative undertaken through the School of Pharmacy and Research (SPR) involves collaboration with Shreevidhya Preschool and Sanskar Day Care, enabling children from these organisations to utilise the institute's sports facilities and gain opportunities for physical activity and recreational development.

The University's sports facilities accommodate various indoor sporting and recreational activities, including board games, badminton, table tennis and other recreational activities. Through such community-oriented collaborations, DPGU seeks to encourage the sharing of sports infrastructure and provide opportunities for children and members of the local community to participate in physical activities. Sports coaching and recreational engagement during weekends and holidays further provide opportunities for physical fitness, motor skill development, socialisation, teamwork, confidence-building and cognitive development.

DPGU considers sports and recreational infrastructure an important resource for strengthening relationships between the University and its neighbouring communities. By encouraging participation and interaction among students, children and community members, the University seeks to create an inclusive environment that promotes healthy lifestyles, physical well-being and meaningful community engagement.

These initiatives also reflect the University's broader commitment to holistic education and its responsibility towards society. Through institutional collaboration and the effective utilisation of available sports facilities, DPGU aims to contribute to community well-being while fostering values of cooperation, inclusiveness, discipline and teamwork among students across all six Schools.

Shared Sports Facilities Supporting Community Well-Being

1. Shreevidya Preschool & Sanskar Day Care

Providing access to shared sports facilities enabled young children to participate in organized physical activities that promoted early motor skill development and overall health. Engagement in indoor games helped improve balance, flexibility, and coordination, supporting healthy growth and development. Participation in group activities also fostered social interaction, teamwork, and emotional well-being.

By offering a safe and supportive environment for recreational learning, this initiative encouraged children to adopt active lifestyles from an early age, helping reduce sedentary habits and fostering lifelong wellness within the preschool community.

Impact: Encouraged the integration of physical activity and fitness into children's daily routines, contributing to SDG 3: Good Health and Well-Being by promoting healthier communities through accessible sports and wellness opportunities.
