Examination System

University Grants Commission

Annexure-VIII

Examination System (Whether Examination-Based or Practical-Based)

At Dnyaan Prasad Global University, a comprehensive and outcome-oriented evaluation system is followed to assess student learning, academic achievement, and holistic development. The system integrates both Continuous Assessment (CA) and Term End Examination (TEE) components, ensuring balanced evaluation through academic, practical, and applied learning parameters.

The University adopts a Choice Based Credit System (CBCS) with a 60:40 weightage between Continuous Assessment and Term End Examination. Continuous Assessment includes quizzes, assignments, mid-term tests, presentations, group projects, practicals, and internships, enabling consistent monitoring of student progress.

Each credit represents 15 hours of teaching, 30 hours of practical work, or 30 hours of project/internship activity. The Term End Examination (TEE) consists of two sections—Section I (set by the Internal Examiner) and Section II (set by the External Examiner). Students must attempt both sections, and the aggregate score of both is considered for the final grade.

The on-screen digital evaluation system ensures fairness and efficiency. Both internal and external evaluators assess the scanned answer scripts through the University's ERP platform, maintaining transparency and timely result declaration.

The grading follows an absolute performance system with a maximum Grade Point (GP) of 10.00, corresponding to Grade 'O'. Students must secure a minimum Grade Point of 4.00 ('P' grade) in both CA and TEE separately to pass each course. A minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) of 4.00 out of 10.00 is required for the award of a degree or diploma.

This blended model of examination-based and practical-based assessment ensures that students acquire both conceptual understanding and experiential competence aligned with global academic standards.

Academic Programme Review Strategies

Yes, Dnyaan Prasad Global University follows a multi-tier and continuous review system for its academic programmes in addition to the Academic Council. These mechanisms ensure that curricula remain current, industry-relevant, and aligned with outcome-based education (OBE) principles.

Other Strategies for Review of Academic Programmes:

1. Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) Review

- What: IQAC conducts systematic reviews of academic programmes to assess their alignment with quality benchmarks, learning outcomes, and stakeholder expectations.
- When: Conducted annually at the end of each academic year.
- How: Through analysis of Course Outcome (CO) and Program Outcome (PO) attainment reports, faculty feedback, student performance data, and external examiner observations. Recommendations are submitted to the Academic Council for action.

2. Departmental Board of Studies (BoS) Review

- What: Each School/Department has its own BoS responsible for academic planning, syllabus design, and programme improvement.
- When: BoS meetings are held twice a year (before each semester).
- How: The BoS evaluates course feedback, industry input, and curriculum benchmarking with national and global standards, suggesting modifications or new courses as required.

3. School-Level Curriculum Review Committee (CMC)

- What: The CRC at each School monitors the academic delivery, evaluation, and student learning outcomes.
- When: Reviews are held once every semester.
- How: Based on course coverage reports, student feedback, and faculty self-assessments. The committee reports findings to the Dean and the IQAC.

4. Academic and Administrative Audit (AAA)

- What: An external or internal audit mechanism to evaluate both academic and administrative functions.
- When: Conducted once every semester.
- How: The AAA examines teaching-learning processes, research output, student support systems, and overall academic effectiveness. Post-audit, an Action Taken Report (ATR) is prepared and reviewed by the Vice-Chancellor and the Academic Council.

5. External Expert and Industry Review

- What: The University invites external academic and industry experts to periodically evaluate programme relevance and employability outcomes.
- When: Conducted every two years or before the introduction/revision of major programmes.
- How: Through workshops, curriculum review panels, and stakeholder consultations, integrating inputs into revised curricula.

6. Student and Alumni Feedback Mechanism

- What: Structured feedback is collected from current students and alumni to understand curriculum effectiveness and relevance to career needs.
- When: Student feedback is gathered every semester; alumni feedback is collected annually.
- How: Feedback is analyzed by the IQAC and shared with the BoS for consideration in curriculum updates.

Beyond the Academic Council, DPGU's academic review ecosystem operates through continuous internal monitoring, stakeholder engagement, and periodic external evaluation ensuring dynamic, high-quality, and globally aligned academic programmes.
